Drupal Web Services

Website

Summary

Drupal is the content management system used for web development at App State. Drupal is open-source and is known for combining ease of use with power and flexibility. Experience with web development, programming, Dreamweaver, or HTML is not needed. Drupal helps to ensure that your website meets the standards required by the American Disabilities Act and saves time by staying current within the university theme. For more information about training and support visit UComm's Strategy Planning website.
